

Imagine that first rainbow and the awe-struck faces of Noah and his family as God promised to never again destroy the earth with a flood. Although Noah was a righteous man, even he could never be perfect.
The assurance from a God who is perfect, however, is something we can trust. Do you trust in God's promises? What would your life look like if you firmly trusted him?

Moses and the Israelites praised God and sang after God drowned the pursuing Pharaoh and his army. Imagine their gratitude! God was now very real to them – a personal God who acted in their lives. How has God become real to you? Write about a time when you were in trouble and called to God for help, and how he responded.

Moses listed many blessings and curses that would come on the Israelites depending on which way they chose to live: obey God and live according to his commands or disobey God and live as they pleased. How is this decision still a life-or-death situation for people today? Even though choosing to obey seems like such an easy decision based on the outcomes, what reasons do some give for not choosing God? What are your reasons for your choice today?

David and Jonathan's friendship was strong, and there was much loyalty between the two. What did Jonathan say to David at their parting? If you have ever had a godly friendship like this relationship exemplifies, write about what that person has meant to you. Consider sending them a note today. If you desire a godly friend, ask God to help you to be a friend to someone.

Day 10

While this psalm about God's care and protection is not a guarantee that nothing bad will happen to a believer, it does provide reassurance that God is in control. Write about a time when you sensed God's protection.
Where were you, when did it happen, what happened, and who did God use? Then write about how you thanked him for his protection?

While not all the proverbs (sayings or parables) in the book of Proverbs are attributed to King Solomon, many of them are believed to have originated with this extremely wise man. What can be gained by reading this book, and who can benefit? How do you apply to your life today the reality that "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge"?

After Jeremiah was beaten, put in stocks, and released the next morning, he complained to God about the burden of the burning need to share the words God had given him. Yet he also knew that God was with him like a mighty warrior, and Jeremiah called for people to sing and give praise to God. Then he cursed the day he was born! Why do you think his emotions seemed to swing to such extremes? Have you ever felt a bit like Jeremiah?

Although Paul had religiously done everything "right," he considered all his previous efforts garbage compared to knowing Jesus as Lord. How does Philippians 4:13 answer the question of how Paul could say that he had "learned the secret of being content in any and every situation" (Philippians 4:12)? Write about how you can find contentment today.
